FOR EVERY WOMAN

Hair That Radiates Healthfulness Always Compels Admiration.

Don't neglect your hair girls; you'll be sorry later on if you do. Never mind about the things you have tried; never mind what people say.

Just remember this: Parisian Sage will make harsh, thin, faded hair soft, glossy and luxuriant. It quickly rid the scalp of dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and imparts that refreshing and comfortable feeling or money returned.

It's a delicately scented liquid free from oiliness and as one woman remarked, "Parisian Sage puts the radiance of sunshine in my dull looking hair and makes it beautiful and lustrous." Wilfred E. Root sells lots of it and always guarantees it.

HOME OF WANTASTIQUET LODGE

FRONT VIEW OF ODD FELLOWS' NEW TEMPLE.

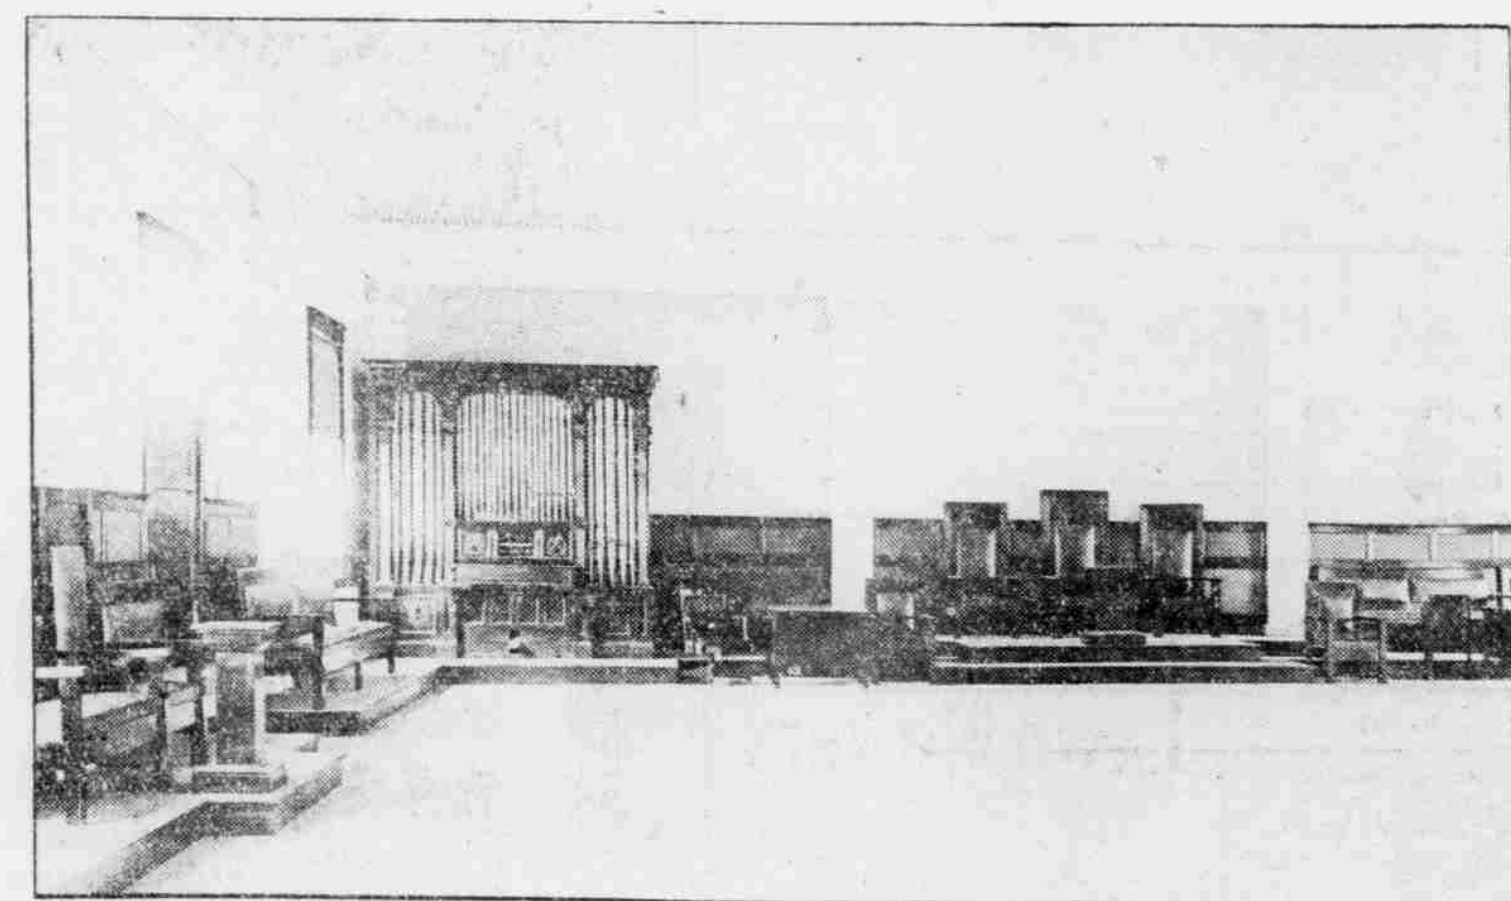

The exterior of the new Odd Fellows' temple is pleasing to the eye and the interior is so well arranged for the purposes intended, the furnishings and furnishings in such excellent taste that the architect and building committee seem to have left no room for criticism and to be deserving of high praise for their efforts. To the builders, too, is due well deserved praise for the faithfulness with which they had carried out the plans and the thoroughness of their detail work.

The temple is located on property bought of the John Rotting estate and faces east on Green Street at the east end, near the junction of High Street. It is of brick with granite trimmings, 59 feet in length, not including a 10-foot veranda, and 52 feet in width. It is three full stories in height with a daylight basement, making four stories excavation in front and three in the rear.

From Green Street flights of granite steps lead to the ground level and a wide flight of granite steps leads to the lower of the main floors, entrance to the daylight basement, in which are located the bowling alleys and the pool and billiard room, being under a long flight of steps leading to the lower main floor.

On the right of the entrance to the basement is a smoking room and billiard and pool room. Card tables and comfortable chairs make up the equipment for the smokers and two pool tables and one billiard table manufactured by J. E. Cane are so arranged in the long room that there is ample room for play and unusual space provided for spectators.

The floor here is of cement with cork covering and the lighting system in this room, as in all of the building with the exception of the bowling alley and the boiler and store room, is the semi-indirect. The lights over the tables are admirably arranged to avoid shadows.

In the rear of the billiard room are found lavatories and a tempting shower bath in a room especially fitted for that purpose, while the bath equipment is the most modern.

Entrance is obtained from the rear of the billiard room also to the boiler room, where, besides the heating plant for the building, is a small auxiliary heater for water. From a room devoted to the janitor's use and for storage purposes is an outer door leading up steps at the side to the rear of the building. The boiler room is protected on all sides by reinforced concrete and every provision has been made to comply with the strictest fire laws, insuring safety from fire and much lower insurance rates.

In the lower front hall under the stairway leading from the interior to the main floor is a convenient telephone booth and coat room.

On the left of the entrance is found the two bowling alleys of the most modern construction and equipment. The light arrangements are especially excellent and, as in the billiard room, there is unusual space for spectators, for whom in both rooms comfortable bench seats are provided. In this room also is the dynamo used for operating the organ in the lodge room. The finish on this floor of the building is North Carolina pine.

An Imposing Entrance.

The entrance doors to the main floor are imposing without being oppressively massive, and glass in fanshape above them lends relief to the effect. The broad 10-foot veranda with its attractive railing and four huge columns of white that support at the top story what is to be a roof garden surrounded by an attractively designed balustrade, give a colonial effect to the front elevation.

A large art square covers a portion of the oak floor of the reception hall. A well designed desk occupies one corner of the room. To the right of the hall is the reading room, with its Sumner music box, its valuable chime clock (which is a gift, as are many other furnishings), its big comfortable chairs, large center table and its fireplace, and there is a delightful view from the windows.

On the opposite side of the hallway is the card room. This occupies space equal to the reading room on the north side of the building and the furnishings are in keeping with the purposes of the room.

From the hallway as well as from the reading room and the card room are entrances to the large banquet hall or dance hall. This extends the entire width of the building and is 48 by 50 feet, without posts. At the west end is a platform, and provision is made under this for the storage of the banquet tables and chairs, which are placed on roller trucks and slid under when not in use. In the southwest corner of the building at the side of the stage are two toilet rooms and a dressing room.

The Dining Facilities.

From the dressing room is an entrance to the remarkably well arranged pantry that runs the entire width of the back of the stage and is stocked with dishes, glassware and other necessary table accessories. At the other end of the pantry is the kitchen with its two sinks, one in the middle of the room with its extensions that fold out when it is not in use. A large, modern gas range and two steam warming ovens go to complete a kitchen equipment not equalled in many lodge buildings. The pantry and stage, being over the boiler room, have cement floors with a cork covering in the pantry, and under the gas range in the kitchen is cement flooring. Swinging doors give direct access to the banquet hall from the kitchen. The woodwork is birch beautifully finished and the walls are tinted a delicate shade.

One the next floor, to the north of the stairway is the Rebekahs' room. A panel mirror the length of a door will prove not the least attraction to those who have occasion and the privilege of using this room. The committee displayed remarkable taste in the furnishings of this room, possibly having taken feminine advice on the matter. The chairs, while substantial, are distinctively feminine in design. There are two roomy closets and a toilet room all in white, while soft rugs are on the floor.

Such favorable auspices and the merits of the new order set forth by an able representative as (Rev.) Bro. Case, no wonder that No. 5 possesses the proud history of the past 40 years. The first officers were: John H. Willis, N. G.; Thomas C. Lord, V. G.; Horace D. Brackett, secretary; Frederick Franks, treasurer.

In the decline of the I. O. O. F. in Vermont during the decade following 1857, Wantastiquet lodge stood firm. The old ledger contains an item, not often found on the pages of early lodges, showing that this lodge renewed their charge books (Marked Second Hand) Aug. 26th, 1863, price one dollar each. This might indicate an early memorizing of the work. This lodge has the honor of furnishing the first historian of the order in the state, Timothy Vinton, P. G. M. and P. G. R.

The organization of the lodge took place in a room either in the old Revere House building or in the building next adjoining it. The lodge continued to meet there for several years and then had quarters for some time in what is now Grand Army hall.

The next home of the lodge was in quarters over the Vermont National bank and about 25 years ago quarters on the third floor of the Hooker building were engaged and there the lodge made its home until April 1 of this year.

In 1905, on the 86th anniversary of Odd Fellowship, the lodge dedicated enlarged quarters in the same building, the tremendous growth in membership having necessitated the enlargement of their quarters.

Not only is Wantastiquet lodge one of the four oldest in the state and the largest in point of membership, but it is one of the wealthiest. Besides the new temple and the lot on which it stands the lodge owns the Tyler building on Main street on the bank of Whetstone brook and the old Water-cure building at the corner of Elliot and Church streets.

The Tyler building was bought in 1892 for about $14,000. The lodge paid $6,000 in cash and borrowed the balance. In 1904 the property was free and clear of incumbrance.

The lodge bought of Edgar H. Davison in April 1912, the Wesschoeff water-cure building on the north side of Elliot street on the corner of Church street. This property has a frontage of 180 feet on Elliot street and an extreme depth of 125 feet. The price was not made public, but it was understood to have been about $16,000. There was consideration at the time and at different times since of a plan to build the new temple on that site, but this was abandoned and the present lot on Green street bought and the temple building erected.

Another indication of the financial condition of the order in Brattleboro is to be found in the statement that the payments for relief work the past year were about $3,000. This included sick and funeral benefits and the appropriation towards the maintenance of the Gill Odd Fellows Home in Ludlow.

Following is a list of the past noble grand and his officers: H. E. Bond, W. J. Cain, C. L. Cobb, W. E. Combs, F. A. Cook, Jerome Corbett, A. J. Currier, J. M. Dugan, E. C. Dunklee, E. J. Eddy, H. L. Emerson, W. D. Gilson, W. F. Goddard, H. S. Goodenough, Thomas Hannon, W. T. Haigh, John L. Howard, Jonathan C. Howe, H. J. Joy, A. E. Knight, A. L. Maynard, George A. Metcalf, M. R. Mrs. Emma Franklin and H. L. Tift went Saturday to Bellows Falls to accompany the body of Mrs. Franklin's father, D. R. Pierce, which was taken there for burial in the family lot.

Already Paid For.

"Look here, waiter. Eighty cents is an outrageous price for a portion of asparagus."

"Yes, sir, but you see, sir, we're putting on a very expensive cabaret show, and—"

"I know all about the cabaret show. I paid for that with the soup."

VOTES OF WOMEN

Do women realize that they already vote in the most effective way on important questions?

Every time a woman buys an article it is a vote, backed by money, for that article, a sincere approval of its merits.

So women have been voting on the question of health. When they have suffered from woman's ailments their vote has been overwhelming for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which they have bought and used with satisfaction.

NORTHFIELD, MASS.Tree Day Celebration.

On Monday afternoon the annual celebration of Tree day was observed at Northfield Seminary. The weather was ideal, with Marquand field and its background in prime condition for the program presented. First was a rainbow dance by the junior and senior classes, accompanied by the piano. Twenty girls dressed in flowing gray robes and streamers gave a movement dance representing the rainbow, then four girls in gowns of yellow, representing the sun, danced on the field driving the rain away. From over a ridge came fully 50 girls in seven files dressed in the seven colors of the rainbow and gave a beautiful motion dance. The next number was a Maypole dance by 14 seniors and 14 juniors in their rainbow costumes. These exercises were given under the direction of the gymnasium teachers, Miss Cummings, Miss Allen and Miss Vail. The juniors then led the way in a circuitous route to the bank of Perry pond for the tree planting. Here class songs were sung and Miss Cora Quimby, president of the senior class gave the spade oration, delivering the spade to Miss Sophie Nelson, president of the junior class, who responded and planted the tree.

The seniors now lead the way to the steps of Russell Sage chapel, where Miss Bessie Cunningham read the class will, and in a humorous speech gave the juniors their many privileges as seniors. Class songs by the seniors were then sung. The final event of the afternoon was the senior-junior banquet in Skinner gymnasium at 6 o'clock. A large crowd from the school and town enjoyed the various events. The senior class teacher is Miss Cummings, their colors are green and white, the junior class teacher is Miss Werdman and their class colors are purple and gold.

Miss Marion Webster will go today to Boston for a few days' visit.

Miss Carolyn Rolfe will move May 1 to the Mead-Sherwin apartment.

Willard Pullen of New Jersey is visiting his aunt, Mrs. William Leavis.

Miles Moore has been visiting his and other relatives in Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. H. N. Bowman of Springfield is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans.

Mrs. L. H. Lazelle spent the weekend in Springfield with her sister, Mrs. Bessie Simonds.

Miss Edith Spencer of Hinsdale, N. H., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hamilton, last week.

The I. D. I. society held a party at the home of the Misses Sotters Saturday night. About 20 young people were present.

Miss Beth Britton of Springfield is visiting her mother, Mrs. F. C. Britton, who has opened her house in East Northfield.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown and Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown are expected today to spend the week at their summer homes here.

Prin. C. E. Dickerson left Friday for another tour in the interest of Northfield-Hermon clubs, which he will visit in various cities.

Mrs. Richer has opened the former bakery in East Northfield and will conduct a tea room and furnish home-made cooking for patrons.

Mrs. Samuel Sweet of New Bedford is with her children at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Estabrook, for a week's rest.

Clyde Smith has moved his family from Hinsdale, N. H., to the house recently vacated by Charles Slate. He will work for the Northfield hotel.

Mrs. S. E. Cregar of Richmond Hill has rented a cottage on Rustic Ridge and will bring her family here for the summer. Mrs. Cregar is a daughter of J. R. Hamilton.

Mrs. Mary L. Rice of Westfield will return here this summer and occupy her house in East Northfield, which has been conducted as the Green Gate tea room the past few years.

Mrs. L. H. Lazelle celebrated her birthday anniversary Friday by entertaining the officers and members of the Home League of the Foreign Missionary society at her home. Mrs. A. G. Moody had a discussion on the work. The afternoon was spent socially and ice-cream and cake were served.

The annual meeting of the school district, comprising the towns of Warwick, Gill, Leyden and Northfield, was held in Alexander Memorial hall Friday. Dinner was served by the domestic science class of the high school, and an excellent dinner, too, as reported by those served. After the business session Superintendent Brick of Turners Falls spoke on Education of the Individual. Besides the Northfield school board Mrs. Jones of Riverside and E. C. Atherton of Gill were present.

WEST CHESTERFIELD, N. H.

Grange Voted to Have Community Fair.

In the Grange meeting Saturday night there were 37 members present and three visitors, and to the entertainment of the children. This was birthday night. The treat consisted of bananas and peanuts. A vote of thanks was extended to C. A. Burbank for four gallons of maple sugar given to the Grange for the anniversary dinner. The Grange voted to have a community fair this fall under the auspices of Spofford Grange. Everyone in the village is invited to compete.

WORTHY MASTER Chickering will give $2 to the boy who raises the best selections of vegetables. Worthy Overseer E. L. Welcome will give a Rhode Island Red rooster worth $1.50 to the same boy, and for a second prize the master will give $1. For a first prize to the girls who compete in cooking a Rhode Island Red pullet will be given by the overseer, and as a second prize $1 will be given by the master.

The entertainment consisted of a reading by Harry Winn, Not Only Doctors Carry Hand Bags; song by three young women, Charlotte Houghton, Evelyn Puffer and Myrtle Farr; recitation, Winnie Streeter, Parcel Post; question, Unnecessary Accumulations; recitation by Mrs. Albert Chickering, The Courtship of Larrie O'Dee and Lassie O'Dee; song by three young women; recitation by John Hutchins.

Mrs. Cora Winn Starkweather, 37, wife of Charles Starkweather and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Winn of this place, died in Beaver Dam, Wis., April 26. She leaves her husband and two daughters in Beaver Dam and her mother, who went to her several months ago, two sisters, Mrs. Curtis Chickering and Mrs. Hermon Chickering and two brothers, Charles Winn and Samuel Winn. She is remembered as a good teacher, an intellectual and refined young woman, and at Beaver Dam she was a much beloved worker in the Baptist church. Samuel Winn of this place attended the funeral in Beaver Dam.

S. L. Rice has returned home from Brooklyn.

Mrs. Helen Burnham went to Springfield Saturday to visit friends.

There will be services in the church next Sunday afternoon as usual.

Lewis Ford of Springfield, Mass., was at his place here over Sunday.

Miss Charlotte Houghton, who was in Hinsdale a few weeks, is at home.

Frank Davis of Greenfield came Saturday and attended the Grange meeting and visited relatives and friends.
